

THE ARCTIC

Experience the stark beauty of the Arctic, a landscape that appears untouched by time. A journey into the heart of a frozen wonderland, where nature's grandeur unveils itself, evokes a mix of awe, reverence, and an indescribable sense of adventure. Here, it is silent and still one moment and a cacophony of migrating birds, barking seals and crackling icebergs the next.

Within this frozen realm, scattered settlements dot the landscape, providing a glimpse into the resilient human communities that call this extreme environment home. These remote outposts, such as Nuuk in Greenland and Pond Inlet in Canada, embody the indomitable spirit of the Arctic, where daily life intertwines with the ebb and flow of nature's rhythms.

Flocks of migratory birds, like the elegant Arctic tern, fill the sky with their melodic calls, while polar bears roam the ice floes in search of seals. The land teems with resilient Arctic foxes, herds of musk oxen, and the occasional glimpse of elusive wolves all who have superbly adapted to thrive in this harsh environment.

To visit this region is to embark on a personal journey of discovery and connection. It is a place where time seems suspended, where the raw power of nature stirs the depths of your soul.

Explore the polar north in Canada and Greenland on a selection of our voyages which visit the Canadian High Arctic. The sweeping landscapes, the awe-inspiring wildlife, and the echoes of past explorers weave a tapestry of emotions that leave you humbled, inspired, and forever changed.

THE VIKING DIFFERENCE IN THE ARCTIC

Innovative ships designed for comfort and exploration

DISCOVER ONE OF THE MOST FASCINATING CORNERS OF THE WORLD as you journey to the rugged Canadian High Arctic and majestic Greenland. Although over half of this land is covered by glaciers, a delicate ecosystem thrives here under the midnight sun. We can sail this far north thanks to a branch of the Gulf Stream, which brings navigable seas and warmer weather to this region each summer. Admire quaint Greenlandic villages—many showcasing traditional peat houses—and witness the awe-inspiring terrain of the Canadian High Arctic, where animals are uniquely adapted to life in the extreme cold. Here are some highlights you may experience during your journey:

- Catch a glimpse of native species such as muskox, harp seals and Arctic hares
- Learn the Basque whaling history of Newfoundland and Labrador
- Cruise past towering icebergs in Ilulissat’s UNESCO-listed “ice fjord”
- Explore hidden bays by Special Operations Boat in search of wildlife
- Uncover the culture and traditions of the Inuit, the Indigenous Peoples of the Arctic
- Follow in the wake of explorers who once searched for the fabled Northwest Passage

AT VIKING, WE OFFER EXPLORATION IN UNPRECEDENTED COMFORT. Sail to the Arctic onboard ships that are appropriately sized and purpose-built for an immersive polar experience. Our expedition ships are small enough to navigate in remote areas, slender enough to pass through canals and large enough to provide speed, superior handling and stability in rough seas.

100% POLAR CLASS

Both Viking Octantis and Viking Polaris have a Polar Class notation, indicating the ships are designed to travel safely to the polar regions.

This means that, unlike most other travel companies offering expedition voyages, we offer a 100% polar class fleet on voyages to the Arctic.

INCREASED STABILITY & COMFORT

Our expedition ships feature both fin stabilisers and U-tank stabilisers that reduce rolling by nearly 50% when the ships are sailing or stationary. An integrated bow creates a longer waterline for the ships and state-of-the-art fin stabilisers allow the ships to glide over the waves for the calmest possible journey.

In regions where anchoring is not possible, dynamic positioning mode allows our ships to hover in place for more streamlined exploration while preventing damage to the seafloor.

UNIQUE FACILITIES DESIGNED FOR EXPLORATION

An industry first, this enclosed in-ship marina permits the launch of Special Operations Boats through the ship's slipway, in addition to the side doors on Deck A. The Hangar can be used for the embarkation of Special Operation Boats when weather and other conditions allow. Guests can observe activity in The Hangar from windows on Deck 1, watching small boat maintenance and biosecurity protocols. This space also features FerryBoxes, instruments continuously collecting and displaying data on water quality, oxygen content, plankton composition and more.

MORE THAN JUST AN EXPEDITION SHIP

Our purpose-built expedition ships are fully equipped research vessels. At the core of Viking Expeditions is the goal to undertake meaningful scientific work. With the help of partnerships with esteemed academic institutions we have created the world's leading scientific enrichment environment in an expedition setting.

During each expedition, visiting researchers from partner institutions are part of the 36-person Viking Expedition Team. This diverse group of experts lead guests through meaningful scientific work, providing guidance and interpretation during shore excursions and delivering world-class lectures. The Science Laboratory, complete with wet and dry capabilities allows our scientists to conduct meaningful research while encouraging guest interaction and participation – an experience exclusive to Viking.

WALRUS, THE ARCTIC

THE WILDLIFE OF THE ARCTIC

A sanctuary for wildlife

THE WILDLIFE OF THE ARCTIC REGION is a testament to the resilience and adaptability of nature, embodying a delicate balance between survival and harmony in one of the harshest environments on Earth. Each creature that inhabits this region has its own story to tell.

Within the Arctic waters, majestic whales command attention with their graceful presence. Species such as the humpback whale, known for their acrobatic breaches, the unique grey and white beluga whale and the bowhead whale, one of the longest-lived mammals on the planet, navigate these icy realms.

Polar bears, the iconic symbol of the Arctic, are perfectly adapted to survive the harsh conditions of the Arctic. These magnificent creatures evoke both a sense of power and vulnerability. Observing polar bears as they navigate the frozen landscapes and hunt for seals is a rare and humbling encounter.

Migratory birds grace the Arctic skies, embarking on incredible journeys across continents. Species like the Arctic tern, known for their remarkable migrations from the Arctic to the Antarctic and back, fill the air with their melodic calls. The Arctic's wetlands and shores serve as vital breeding grounds for a multitude of bird species, making them havens for ornithologists and bird enthusiasts.

Other notable wildlife in the Arctic includes the Arctic fox, with its exquisite white coat, the elusive Arctic wolf, a true embodiment of wilderness and survival and the musk ox, with its thick fur and imposing horns their presence a reminder of the region's wild and untamed essence. Each creature that inhabits this region has its own story to tell, weaving a rich tapestry of life and adaptation in one of the planet's most extreme environments.

POLAR BEARS

A marine mammal, they are the largest bear in the world and superbly adapted to survive in the Arctic's harsh conditions. They spend most of their time on sea ice hunting for food.

ARCTIC FOX

Camouflaged against the snow, the Arctic fox is a marvel of adaptation, their thick fur coat and fluffy tails keep them warm allowing them to thrive in extreme conditions.

ARCTIC HARE

Their long hind legs allow them to travel at speeds of more than 60 km an hour. In some areas of the Arctic they shed their fur changing colour from white to brown with the seasons.

MUSK OXEN

With their shaggy coats and imposing horns, these Arctic natives roam the tundra in search of lichens and vegetation. As their name suggests, males emit a musky odour during mating season.

WHALES

Home to 17 species including humpback, fin and minke whales who migrate to the region, while beluga and bowhead whales reside almost entirely in the Arctic year round.

MIGRATORY BIRDS

See black-legged kittiwakes, greater snow geese and the Arctic tern who embark on incredible journeys, flying from the Arctic to the Antarctic and back.
